Summary: A poem about the Flood

The Flood

The Flood

Death is all around me

>I can't escape the FloodAll I can ever see

>Is the endless sea of Blood

I've come to hate myself

>I've had to kill my friendsThey've put their skulls upon a shelf

>The fighting never ends

I feel the death of every man

>They were like a part of meI help them all when I can

>I've had too much of reality

I've run and run and run

>I wish I could escapeI wish I could again see the sun

>Which has so long forsaken

I think that I'll die

>As I lie on my bedI'd be better to die

>Than to let them get into my head

I am now suicidal

>The gun pointed at my headIt is not coincidental

>I'd rather be anywhere instead

I hear them coming

>I hear them growlingKilling

>PreyingEating

>InfestingI am next

End
